The $25,000 payment to Revolis Consulting was a contractual obligation dependent upon a 2012 General Election win. The absence of the obligation from 30 Day Post General filing was an oversight. However, the lack of the information in the filing did not deprive any voters of pre-election financial transactions.

In keeping with the committees responsibility and commitment to accurate and full disclosure, the bonus to Revolis was entered and the appropriate amendment filed.
